

millennial

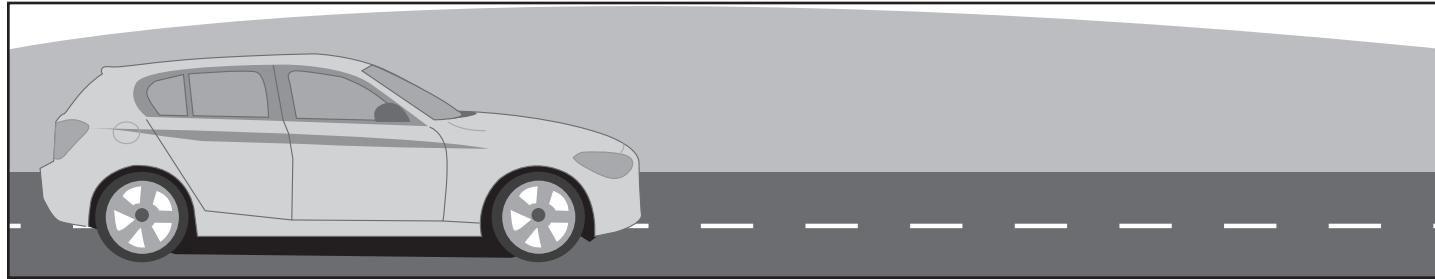

an illustrated poem

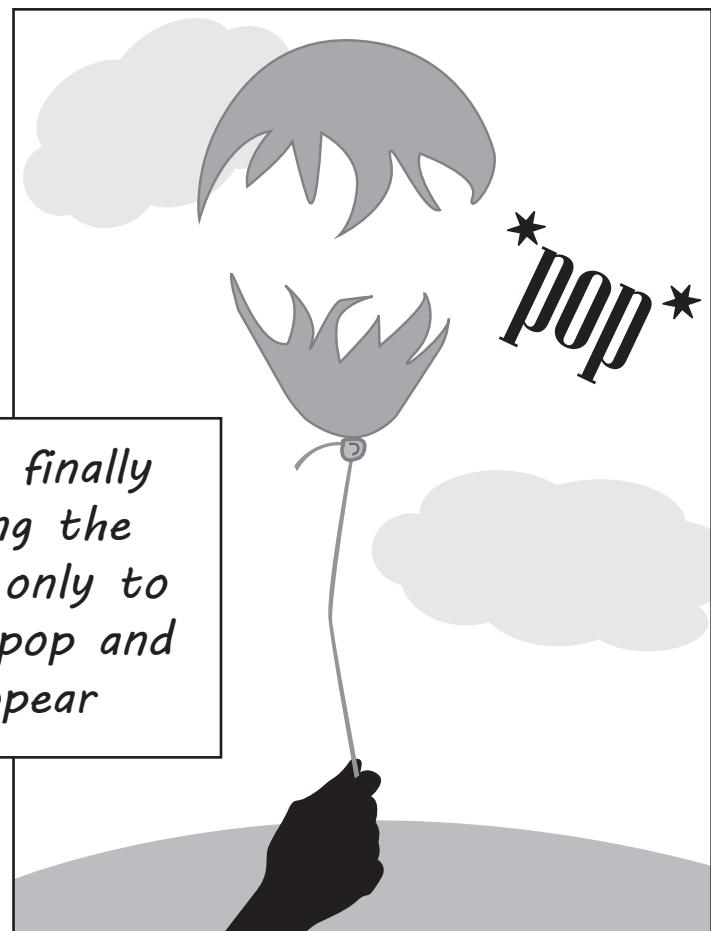

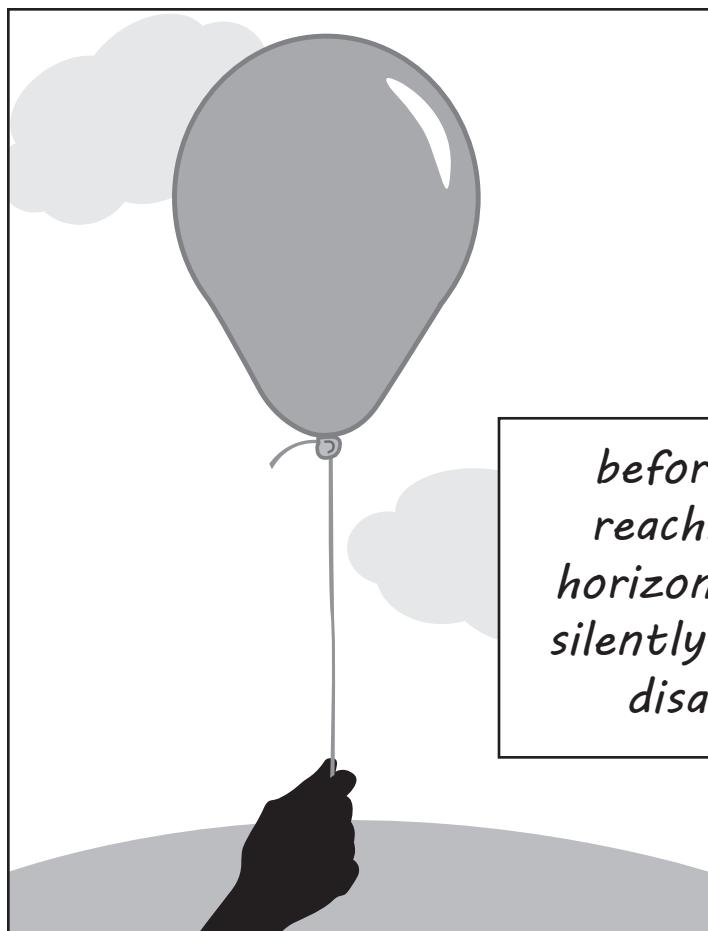

by madison figg

*She could never quite settle on any
one decision ...*

*before finally
reaching the
horizon only to
silently pop and
disappear*

BUST

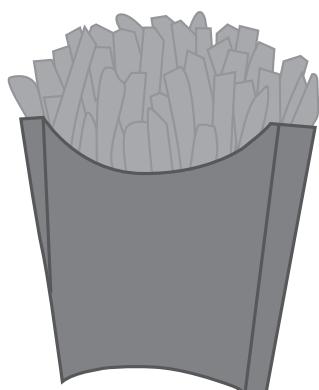

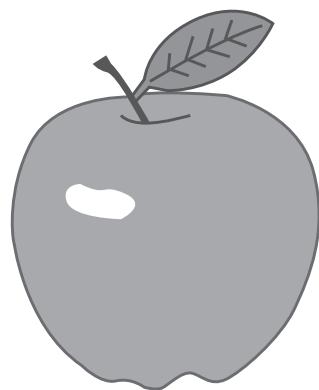

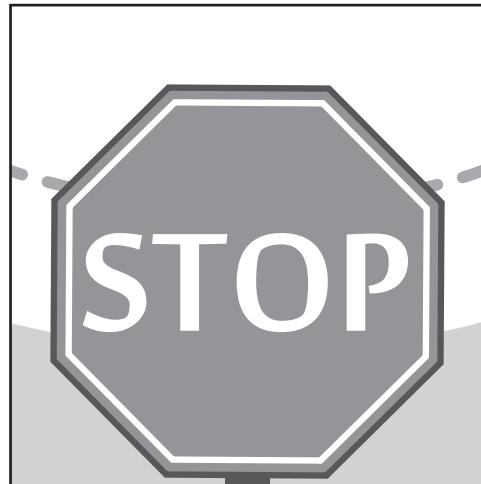

*do you want to
drop five pounds
in two weeks?*

CHANGE THE WAY YOU
DRESS FOREVER! Lana
Rays new juice diet takes
you from toxic to fresh and green with a great
new way to cleanse your body and lose weight at
the same time.

DOES CHOCOLATE KILL
YOUR METABOLISM? The
answer might surprise
you. Check out page 46
to see what unexpected
food will actually
change the way you feel about junk food forever.

*There were
untold rules
one had to follow to
remain being
a part of such
a superior
collective*

the majority of which allowing each individual to advance through stages

*Stages which she
resisted with
a transcending
concrete fear*

She did not want to follow blindly like those around her but knew of no other way to survive in the world we had created.

Jane Doe X

hey do you want to go out
tonight?

mark and john are gunna
be there too!!!

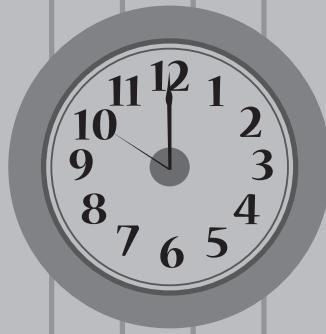

hello???

let me know asap

type a message...

...

yeah su....

...

Jane Doe

hey do you want to go out
tonight?

mark and john are gunna
be there too!!!

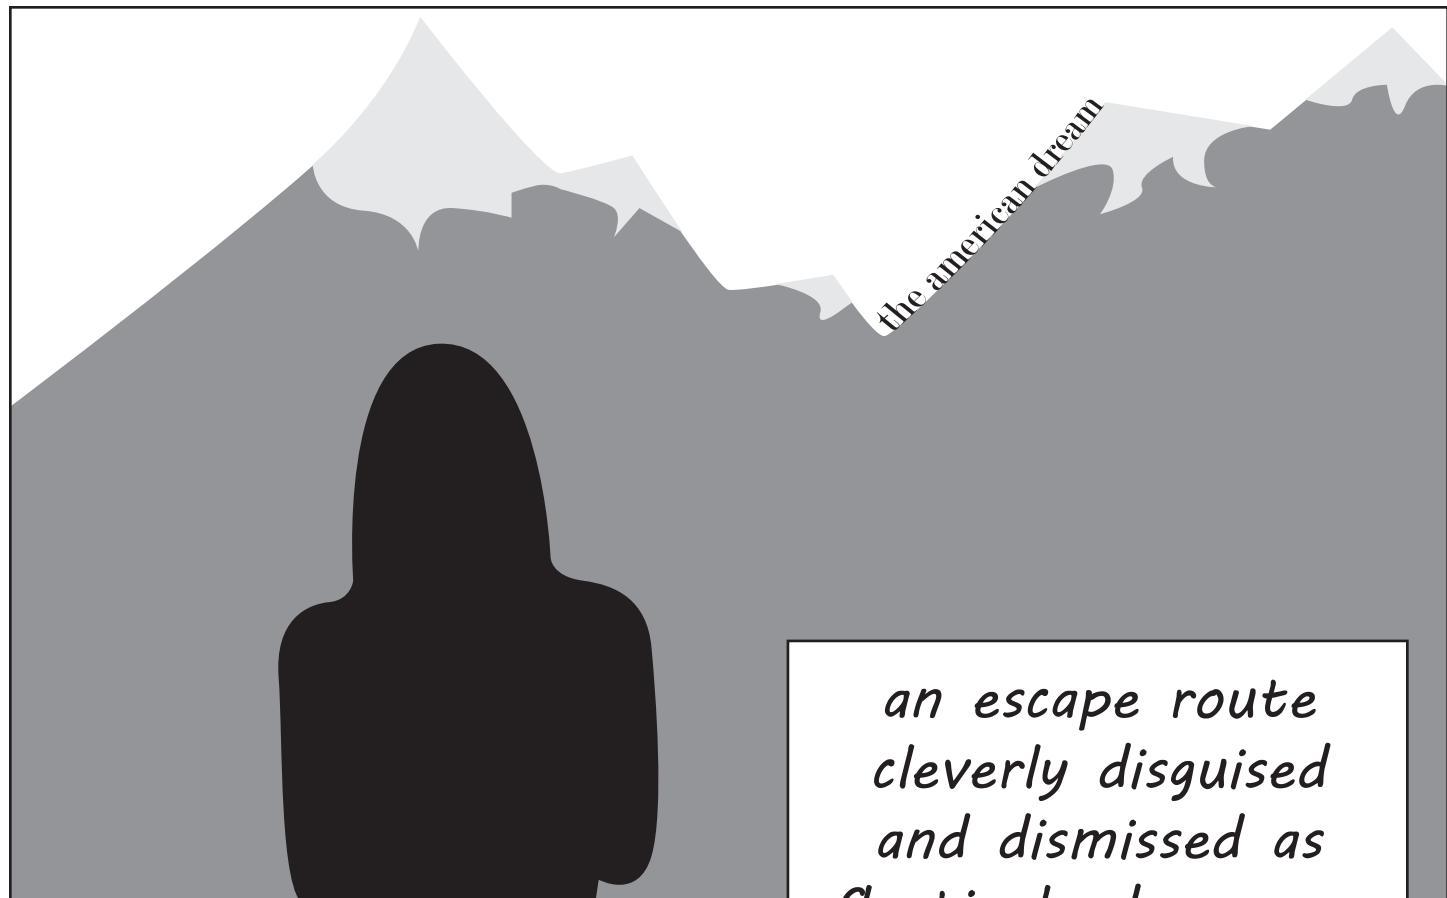

hello???

let me know asap

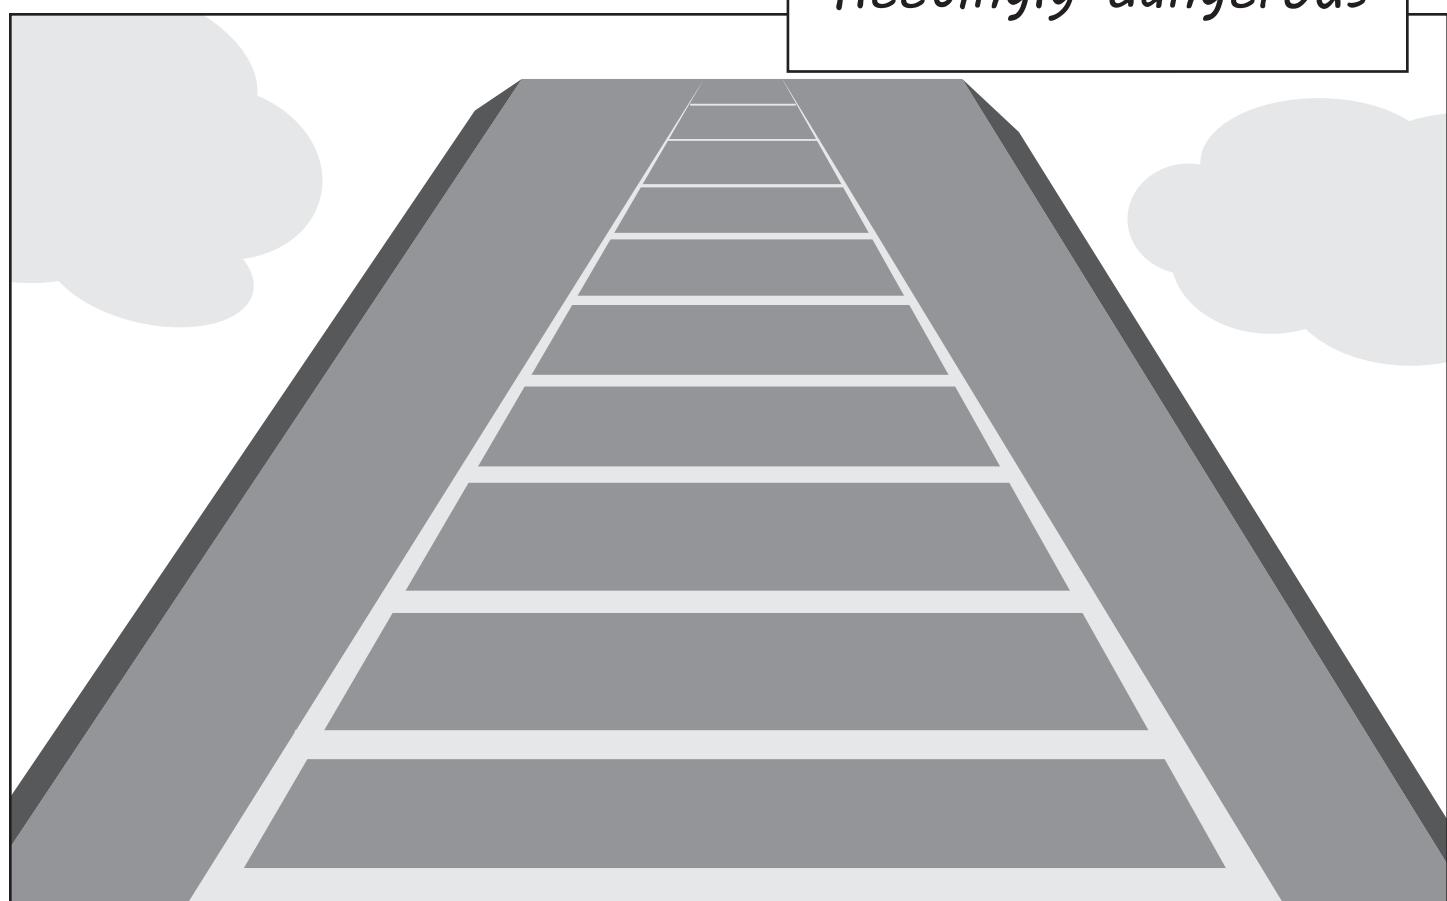

...

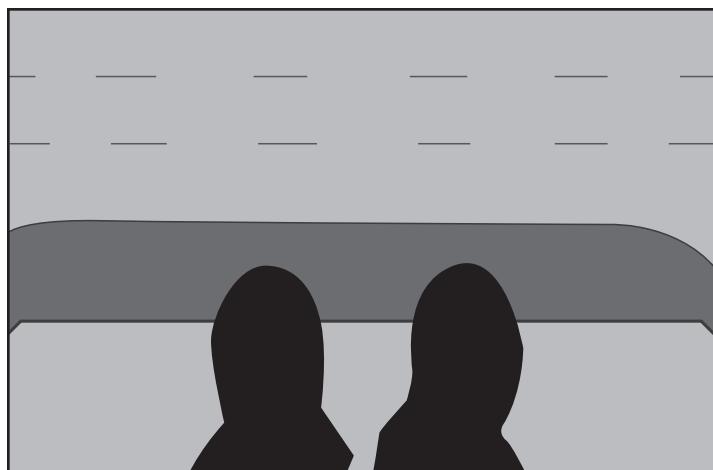

*The footholds of
personal expression
she yearned for still
existed, yet had been placed out of reach;*

*an escape route
cleverly disguised
and dismissed as
fleetingly dangerous*

Because who would attempt to grab hold of them when there was the possibility that they would fall?

this graphic novel was both written and illustrated by author Madison Figg to stimulate thought and to challenge the way people think about society.